

HUERTA GIVES UP
PRO-JAPANESE SHOW

Demonstration Planned for New Minister's Arrival Has Been Abandoned.

ARMS FOR THE REBELS

Senator Fall to Push Resolution to Permit Sale by Americans.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Information received here tonight through official channels indicates that the Huerta Government in Mexico has given up its plan of having an impressive pro-Japanese demonstration on the arrival in Mexico City of the new Japanese Minister to that country. There have been reports for several days that the Mexicans would take advantage of this opportunity to make a demonstration which would plainly be intended as an affront to the United States Government. There is good reason to believe that the Huerta Government was promoting this plan, just as it is supposed to have promoted the anti-American demonstrations that have occurred recently in the Mexican capital.

Apparently, however, Huerta and his followers have had a sobering second thought and have decided to refrain from any pronounced pro-Japanese demonstration. This Government, of course, has not made any representations on this subject to the Huerta Administration.

DEMOCRATIZATION INCREASES

It is understood that the information which Washington officials have received has come from the American Embassy in Mexico City. Advice received by the State Department today indicated plainly that the democratization in Mexico is becoming more pronounced. The impression is daily growing here that the Huerta Government will not be able long to stand up if the spread of anarchy and pillage continues.

A dispatch to the State Department from Frontera, in the State of Tabasco, said several plantations in the neighborhood of that town, among them American estates, had been sacked. The Governor of the State promised to give Americans prompt relief.

The State Department today made inquiry as to the report that armed Mexican rebels headed by El Mocho Martinez are now threatening the lives of Americans remaining in the Madero lumber camp near the Huasteca property in Chihuahua. The State Department has received no confirmation of this report.

Despatches received at the department today said the Federal troops had attacked the rebels' headquarters in northern Mexico. A detachment of Federal troops recently moved into northern Mexico to combat the Carrancista rebels. No definite information was obtained as to the outcome of the engagement.

Waiting for Mr. Wilson.

This week will see important developments in the Mexican situation so far as the policy of this Government is concerned. Henry Lane Wilson, American Ambassador to Mexico, is now on his way to Washington and will arrive here the latter part of the week. Secretary of State Bryan will return from his Chautauque circuit to confer with Ambassador Wilson and the President. At this conference a decision will be reached as to the future policy of the United States toward Mexico.

Senator Fall of New Mexico also will attend the developments of the week. He intends to push his resolution which if passed will permit the sale of American weapons and ammunition to the rebels in Mexico. Senator Fall objects to the resolution passed by Congress during the Taft Administration which has been construed in such a way as to admit the exportation into Mexico of arms and ammunition consigned to the Huerta Government, but not munitions of war which are consigned to the rebels. Senator Fall insists upon like treatment to both Federal and rebels.

OPPOSE MEXICAN LOAN.

France Not Eager to Have New Issue Made at Present.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.
PARIS, July 20.—It is now said that the meeting of bankers which was held last Friday at the offices of the Banque de Paris et des Pays Bas was for the purpose of considering the question of advancing money to the Mexican Government on account of a new issue of $25,000,000 in treasury notes which the bankers have the option of taking any time within six months after July 30.

The Mexican Government is said to be asking for $20,000,000 now as a loan from the bankers. Up to the present time the banking group has refused to consider the loan, which would remain on its hands, as the public would not care to subscribe to it so soon after the recent Mexican issue.

The French Government is reported to be opposed to the bankers financing Mexican or any other foreign loans at the present time, as the issue of a $200,000,000 French army loan must be considered.

It is understood that the bankers interested in the matter will meet again to-morrow, when a decision will be made.

Otto H. Kuhn of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., which was interested in the issue of the former Mexican loan, said last night that he knew nothing of any meeting of Paris bankers for the purpose of considering a new Mexican loan.

The original issue was for $27,000,000. The notes were very poorly held, although the interest rate was high. American investors were wary and the burden fell upon the French. Bankers refused to underwrite the issue.

The feeling among Paris bankers is to refuse to advance Mexico more money until the United States has recognized the new Mexican republic.

Americans Along Border Line Say Situation Is Serious.

M. E. Van Surdam, principal of the El Paso Military Institute, El Paso, Tex., who arrived in the city yesterday on his way to his home in Hooper, Pa., N. WEDDING DINNER SHUNNED.

Many Invitations Issued by U. S. Grant, Jr., Are Unanswered.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 20.—U. S. Grant, Jr., who secretly married Mrs. American Girl, a young widow, a week ago, issued invitations for a dinner last night to celebrate the wedding. Many of the invitations were unanswered and the dinner was abandoned.

Mr. Grant's own children refuse to recognize the bride, and the only one who appeared for the dinner was the youngest son, who is an undergraduate at Harvard.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant left to-day on the steamer Yale for San Francisco, whence they will sail on an eighteen months tour of Australia, South Africa and South America. Mr. Grant said before his departure that he would probably never return to San Diego. He feels very keenly the position in which his marriage has placed him.

It has become known that the reason for the secrecy in the marriage of Mr. Grant was the fact that he feared he would be ostracized by his son, Chaffee, from executing an anti-nuptial agreement.

By this agreement Grant practically turns over all of his large fortune to his bride and virtually cuts off all his children.

SHORT LIVED REVOLT IN LISBON; MANY WOUNDED

Mobs Throw Bombs at Police and Soldiers, Then Attack Barracks.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.
LISBON, July 20.—One person was killed and several others seriously wounded in encounters between revolutionists and the police and soldiers here to-day.

The trouble started early this morning when the suspicions of the police were aroused by the movements of an automobile which carried no lights. They stopped the car and arrested the two passengers. Each passenger had two bombs in his possession and there was a basketful of bombs in the automobile.

The police were taking their prisoners to the station house when they were attacked by a mob. Two bombs were thrown at the officers. One policeman was killed and the driver of the automobile and another policeman were wounded.

At the same time fighting began elsewhere between mobs and the police. A where between mobs and the police. A crowd endeavored to rush the barracks of the sailors, but were driven back and dispersed. Three persons who were in a mob which tried to enter the post of the Republican guard were shot and seriously wounded while resisting the soldiers.

A little later a soldier who was driving an automobile through the principal street was ordered to stop by a crowd. The soldier refused to obey and the mob fired. One occupant of the car was seriously wounded. Men found carrying bombs in various other quarters of the city were arrested.

The revolt, which seems to have been a counter revolution of the extreme revolutionists, was finally put down.

TABLET REVEALS ANCIENT LAWS

Important Archaeological Discovery Announced in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—What is considered an archaeological discovery of the first importance in the history of the university museum is announced to-day in the finding of a tablet containing many of the missing laws from the code of Hammurabi, the oldest collection of laws and precepts extant. Hammurabi was "King of Babylon" of Akkad and Lord of the four quarters of the earth. They were taken from a much higher civilization in the time of Hammurabi (who ruled Babylon about 2100 to 2300 B. C., according to various estimates) and are similar to the laws of Moses.

The importance of one law is that in the history of primitive people in many civilizations, long after the Babylonian period down to the Norman conquest of Great Britain, it was customary for the creditor to receive the body of the debtor either for a time or for a year. The text here indicates that when a debtor had given up all he had and had taken a receipt with witnesses his debt was discharged. In many respects this is one of the most impressive laws of the whole Hammurabi code.

WILL SUE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Cincinnati Publisher Wants $100,000 From John R. McLean.

CINCINNATI, July 20.—Otto C. Lightner, publisher and editor of the Cincinnati American, the one cent morning newspaper, which has been published here for a few weeks past, in an extra issue to-night announced that a suit for $100,000 would be brought against John R. McLean, editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and that a suit against the Associated Press would also be brought by his paper in the United States Court alleging monopoly and restraint of trade.

Lightner declares that the defendant, McLean, through his agents had interfered with the publication of the American. Lightner declares that McLean besides owning the Enquirer has a controlling interest in the Commercial Tribune, another morning newspaper.

Lightner says that the interference was partly in the way of preventing news from his home town, in a critical condition and doctors say that his only chance of recovery lies in having healthy blood transfused into his veins.

The father yesterday submitted to blood tests. His blood was found to be in excellent condition and everything is in readiness for the transfusion operation to-day.

CIGAR IN HAND AS HE ENDS LIFE WITH SHOT

GRIEVED AT SON'S DEATH

Was Working on Books of Hastings Building and Loan Association.

HASTINGS-UPON-HUDSON, July 20.—William T. Joralemon, secretary of the Hastings Building and Loan Association and confidential clerk of the National Conduit and Cable Company, was found dead in the office of the latter company here early this afternoon by workmen who had heard a pistol shot and forced their way into the office. A revolver was found close to the body. One chamber was discharged and the bullet had entered Joralemon's right temple. In Joralemon's left hand was a partly smoked cigar. Coroner Hies of Yonkers said the man undoubtedly committed suicide.

Joralemon went to the office in the factory about 10 o'clock yesterday morning to work on the books. Nothing was seen of him until 1 o'clock in the afternoon, when a workman in the yard adjoining the building heard a shot. With several others he ran to the office door on the second floor, but found it locked. A window was open and they entered, to find Joralemon on the floor near the safe.

Calmly Deliberated Suicide.

The man had apparently calmly deliberated suicide while working over his books. In his upturned hand on the desk the key to the building had been tossed after he locked the door. The revolver was a few feet away.

The workman summoned the police and notified the Coroner. Dr. F. R. Lyman, who lives near by, was called. He said Joralemon had died instantly. W. H. Lewis, a vice-president of the National Conduit and Cable Company, and David Fulton, a director of the Building and Loan Association, were unable to offer any reason why Joralemon should kill himself.

Joralemon was about 38 years old. He was married and had a wife and three children living at 117 Ludlow street, Yonkers. Mrs. Joralemon and the children, one girl about 14 years old and two boys aged 10 and 12 years, went to Rockaway Beach early in the morning to spend the day.

Grieved Over Son's Death.

Mr. Lewis and Mr. Fulton said that Joralemon had grieved over the death of a son a short time ago. Mr. Fulton said he had been employed as confidential clerk by the National Cable and Conduit Company for seventeen years and had been secretary of the loan association for a long time. He said it could not be determined whether or not the dead man had any business troubles of financial difficulties. Mr. Fulton had not examined the loan association's books, he said, and could not advance any theory about the case.

Mrs. Joralemon became hysterical to-night when she returned home and learned of her husband's death. She too said she had grieved over the death of a child and denied a rumor that there had been domestic troubles in the family.

The Hastings Building and Loan Association is a local investment society which includes among its members a large number of the people of this and nearby villages. It is chartered by the State. It is not particularly identified with the National Conduit and Cable Company, although many of the employees of the company have money in the association and hence the offices of the association were in the company's building. David Fulton is president and chairman of the board of directors, and Frederick Zinner vice-president. It was said to-night that the association is very prosperous.

Joralemon is said to have come here from Harrison, N. J., where his mother and two sisters live.

Friends of the dead man think he was murdered because the office window was open and some one could have shot him and not away down to the railroad tracks. Police Captain Cronin, who investigated the case with the Coroner, declares Joralemon committed suicide. The office and the revolver found in the office was owned by him and had been kept in the company's safe. Edward R. Perot, president of the conduit firm, said Joralemon did not handle any of the company's funds.

According to a despatch from Albany the State Banking Department has not heard of any trouble in the building association, the official name of which is given as the Hastings-Upson-Hudson Building, Cooperated Savings and Loan Association. The association at its last report had assets of $112,000, undivided profits of $1,700 and cash on hand of $23,000.

FAVOR MODIFIED CONFESSIOAL.

Protestant Pastors of Denver Believe It Would Be Good.

DENVER, July 20.—The adoption of a modified confessional by Protestant churches has been approved by many Denver ministers. The Rev. Charles M. Sheldon of Topeka in a speech at the Christian Endeavor convention at Los Angeles urged that this step be taken. He said that for years he had devoted two hours each Sunday to hearing the tribulations of his congregation.

"Frequently I can direct a man to employment," he said, "and sometimes estranged wives and husbands are reconciled through the medium of the confessional."

The Rev. David H. Faure of the First Reformed Church says: "I believe in the modified confessional. Friendly counsel at such times means a great deal to a troubled soul. This should be part of the minister's work."

Other leading Protestant ministers favor the proposition, among them the Rev. I. B. Bill of the Capitol Hill Baptist Church.

"This, it seems to me, is merely part of the minister's duty, and all good ministers from the beginning have done so," he said. "However, we do not undertake to obtain forgiveness for a man's sins."

POOR TO LIVE IN COUNT'S HOME.

French Nobleman Throws Open His Doors to the Peasants.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.
PARIS, July 20.—The Count and Countess Antoine de la Rocheffoucauld have lent their magnificent house on the Boulevard Lannes, facing the Bois de Boulogne, the most aristocratic part of the city, to M. Cochon, a man who has a self-imposed mission to find abodes for the poor who are unable to find them. Eight families moved in this afternoon to the accompaniment of a pot and kettle band after they had paraded in the Bois.

The hosts received the guests at the gates. A young painter installed a fine studio in the nursery and made arrangements for a second studio. Champagne was opened in honor of the occasion.

The house of the De la Rocheffoucauld has eighteen months to run. Their hospitality is due more to a desire to annoy the landlord than to charity. Count Antoine is a cousin of the Duc de la Rocheffoucauld, who married Miss Mitchell of California.

MEDIATORS HERE, BUT THEY'VE LITTLE TO DO

Neither Side in Railroad Dispute Disposed to Agree Without Arbitration.

President A. B. Garretson of the conductors and President W. G. Lee of the Trainmen spent yesterday preparing their side of the controversy with the Eastern railroads which will be presented to the board of mediation and conciliation. Judge W. Lea Chambers, chairman of the board, arrived here last night, but immediately left on a Sunday outing. He will return this morning. The two other members of the board, Martin A. Knapp and W. W. Hanger, got here last night.

The course prescribed under the law is for the mediators to see the representatives of each side separately and hear their views, then to try to effect a settlement.

Inasmuch as both sides agree that the trouble cannot be settled by mediation, the preliminaries will not occupy much time.

Arbitration is now blocked for the present by the refusal of the trainmen and conductors to consider the eight grievances of the railroads, which the managers insist should be included in the arbitration. President Garretson said, however, that the trouble which has held up the strike will continue until this point has been settled.

The optimistic view of President Lee of the Civic Federation after his interview with the managers' committee was looked upon as a favorable sign by Garretson. He said:

"At the White House conference none of the railroad presidents there said a word about grievances to be incorporated in the arbitration and both sides had already agreed to arbitration of our demands under the Newlands amendment."

Elissa Lee, chairman of the railroad managers' conference committee, said last night that she has an appointment with Judge Chambers for a conference this morning. He declined to say where the conference would be held. It is believed that it will be at the Manhattan Hotel.

GOLDEN AGE FOR FARMHANDS.

Mells Offers Eligible Sisters and Buggy Rides as Lure.

ANDOVER, Ohio, July 20.—Ray Mells, a farmer of Dorset, near here, simply can't keep help this summer, yet he offers inducements that really ought to bring him an army of husky youths. Here are a few of the inducements Mells offers to lure some good, strong, willing farm hands his way:

"Each man may have a horse and buggy on Sunday or in the evenings.

The quitting time every evening is 6 o'clock, with nothing to do on Sunday but rig up in Sunday best and go to meeting, after which a good dinner will be waiting.

Wages that will compare with the best paid anywhere in the locality, with the most moderate treatment during working hours.

"In addition to all this," says Mells, "I have two good looking eligible sisters and have offered to let the boys get busy and win them if they can. There's the horse and buggy for their use every Sunday."

The harvesting of crops in Mells' neighborhood has been delayed two weeks by the shortage of help. All other farmers in the vicinity have experienced the same trouble as Mells.

STEAMER ON ROCKS AT RYE.

New Haven Boat Stuck Until High Tide—Passengers Scared.

RYE, N. Y., July 20.—The steamboat Myra from New Haven with eighty passengers aboard ran on the rocks off Rye Beach this afternoon.

Some of the passengers got off in rowboats and came ashore and then proceeded on to New York by train. When it was learned there was no danger most of the passengers decided to remain, and they stayed aboard until high tide, about midnight. Then the steamboat succeeded in releasing herself.

The boat was not much damaged and after an examination was made of the hull started on her way.

KILLED AS TRAIN HITS AUTO.

Dr. O. H. Evans' Wrecked at Pennsylvania Railroad Crossing.

SEAFORD, Del., July 20.—Dr. O. H. Evans, prominent veterinarian of Kent county, was killed this afternoon by a northbound freight train one mile below Cheswold while crossing the Pennsylvania tracks in his automobile. The engine stalled and he was unable to jump out before being struck. The car was torn to pieces.

Dr. Evans was a bachelor, 40 years old.

MAIL CHAUFFEURS WON'T STRIKE

Members of the Mail Auto Truck Chauffeurs Union decided yesterday not to strike. Timothy Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the union, said that the new firm was not to be a threat to any one of the chauffeurs.

"This, it seems to me, is merely part of the minister's duty, and all good ministers from the beginning have done so," he said. "However, we do not undertake to obtain forgiveness for a man's sins."

TURKISH TROOPS RETAKE ADRIANOPLE

Enver Bey Enters City After Short Fight With Bulgarians.

PEACE IN THREE DAYS

Bulgaria Accedes to Rumania's Demand for Eastern Territory.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.
LONDON, July 21.—After a short fight with the small Bulgarian garrison the Turkish cavalry under Enver Bey has retaken Adrianople, according to despatches reaching here. The bash-bazouks who accompanied the Turkish regulars are reported to be burning and pillaging in the neighborhood of the recaptured fortress.

Another report of the Turkish entry into the city says that the Bulgarians did not resist Enver Bey's men, acting according to instructions from Sofia.

Turkey made a new move on Saturday. The Porte presented a note to the ambassadors of the Powers at Constantinople in which Turkey claimed the frontier beginning at Enos and ending at Midia, as agreed upon by the London conference, but the Ottoman Government made an enormous curve to the northward of this line, following the course of the Maritza River so as to include Adrianople.

Expect Peace in a Few Days.

It looks as though the fighting in the Balkans between the Bulgarians and the Greeks, Serbians, Montenegrins and Rumanians is all over. One report is that peace will be signed within three days.

Bulgaria appears to be willing to cede everything that has been asked by each country in order to procure peace. She has no other alternative apparently, as the Serbians, Greeks and Rumanians are agreed Sofia on all sides.

Bulgaria at the advice of Russia has definitely promised to Rumania the cession of the Turtukal-Haitchik frontier and has sent Gen. Paprikoff to open negotiations with Greece and Serbia at Nish. The Rumanian diplomats are working for a conference of all the belligerents at Sibiu, near Bucharest. Austria and Russia are said to approve of this plan.

All the developments of the last few days in the Balkans seem to indicate the complete collapse of the authority of the European Powers in the Balkans. The allies refuse to cease fighting and even Turkey declined to promise that she would be satisfied with the original Enos-Media line.

A despatch from Demir-Hissar says it is estimated that within three months 50,000 persons have been done to death in that district. The vast majority of the victims were Turks.

Little Important Fighting.

There are some reports of skirmishes at various points, but no important fighting. The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Eri Palanka sends a long description of an engagement Saturday between Serbians and Bulgarians, but it merely tells of an interchange of much artillery firing in which the Bulgarians appear to have wasted a maximum amount of ammunition in doing a minimum amount of damage.

The correspondent says that the Bulgarians killed and wounded a number of the Serbians and even a number of the Serbians were killed and wounded.

Another despatch says Rumanian troops are advancing in an easterly direction and threatening Eastern Rumelia.

SERBS HARASS ALBANIANS.

Driving Them to Mountains to Starve, It Is Charged.

A private message received yesterday by the Rev. Dr. Henry Otis Dwight, secretary of the American Bible Society, from an American missionary now making his way from Scutari into the devastated regions of Albania, says that the Serbians are engaged in what is there believed to be an attempt to exterminate the population of several of the eastern Albanian districts.

Guards from the Serbian army, the message says, are patrolling territory definitely assigned to Albania at a distance of as much as twenty-five miles from the boundary to prevent any one getting out of or going into the region. Thousands of refugees are in the mountains without shelter or food, expatriated and starving, feeding on roots, grass, bark and twigs.

"I found near Lesh," said the missionary, "and all the way from Scutari a great many villages burned and few fields planted. The country has been ravaged by the Serbians, by the Montenegrins and by the Turkish army under Enver Pasha, who thus punished the inhabitants for refusing to help him save Turkey. At Kroya we heard of four women and forty-eight men who had been wantonly hanged, shot or cut to pieces with swords by the Serbians."

The missionary carried with him into the devastated regions a first instalment of relief funds for the starving Albanians supplied by the American Constantinople Relief Committee of 29 Bible House, New York.

ARRESTED FOR A CENT DEBT.

Old Customer Wouldn't Pay for Matches on Principle.

Henry R. Smith, 35 years old, a book-keeper of 34 West Sixteenth street, was arrested yesterday because he refused to pay a cent for a box of matches, as he put it, on general principles. He went into the cigar store of Sigmund Isaacson, at 205 Ninth avenue, yesterday afternoon for a box of cigarettes. Inside he found that he had a box and so asked Isaacson, from whom he has been buying papers and tobacco for years, for a box of matches. Isaacson threw a box across the counter.

After they had talked a while Smith started out. Isaacson asked for a cent. Smith thought he was fooling, but Isaacson called a policeman. Smith was told he'd be arrested if he didn't pay, but he insisted he'd rather be locked up than pay under the circumstances.

FIRE ON PIER AS LINER DOCKS.

The Breslau Backs Out and Tugs Crews Quench Flames.

As the North German Lloyd liner Breslau, from Bremen, was docking in Hoboken yesterday morning smoke came pouring out from under the pier. The company's tug Castor and Pollux still had their lines on the steamship, which had not quite warped in. Pier Superintendent Noeller ordered the skipper of the Breslau to back out, which he did in a hurry. It was found that the insulation of the wires furnishing power to the electric winches had worn away and started a blaze under the pier. The tugs of the line, whose crews are drilled fire fighters, soon had the blaze subdued. The electric power meanwhile had been turned off.

The Breslau docked about twenty minutes later. She had 97 second cabin, 170 third cabin and 1,365 steerage passengers, of whom will go to Philadelphia and Baltimore. The smoke and the hurried casting off of the ship's lines alarmed many of the passengers, but there was nothing resembling panic.

EAGLE STEALS JERSEY DOGS.

Automobilists See Bird in Action and Learn Where Pets Go.

GREAT NOTCH, N. J., July 20.—An automobile party travelling along the Notch road from Montclair to Paterson this morning saw a big bird which looked like an eagle swoop down on the roadway and ascend with small dog in its claws.

Many persons have reported the disappearance of dogs and cats, but it was not known until to-day what took them.

MEARS REACHES MANCHURIE.

"Evening Sun" Globe Trotter Still 8 1/2 Hours Behind Time.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.

Flowers and beans are to be seen everywhere.

SHE SAVES TO RUN FOR MAYOR.

Cleveland Girl Starts Account to Be Ready for Suffrage Victory.

CLEVELAND, July 20.—Mayor Newton D. Baker of this city had better watch out. Catherine Kline is after his job. Just as soon as woman suffrage carries in Ohio this student of political affairs and daughter of a family of political free-thinkers is going to run for Mayor of this fair city.

To the end that she may carry out her plans and live up to her belief that no candidate for office should receive campaign contributions Miss Kline has been putting all the money possible into a savings account. She is 24 years old.

"I figure," said Miss Kline, "that if I have saved $1,000 by the time I am ready to run for office I will have enough to pay my legitimate campaign expenses. That's all I plan to pay, and I can do that unaided. Some of my friends have been twisting me about starting to save so early, but I can't see it that way. Suffrage is coming to Ohio in a few years and I plan to be one of the first women candidates for office."

BORDEN YACHT AT GOLDEN GATE.

Adventurer Makes Trip From Boston in 155 Days.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—John Borden's yacht Adventurer arrived here late last night, 155 days from Boston and forty-eight days from Valparaiso. The Adventurer was built by Mr. Borden to cruise in the Arctic this summer in search of a new route to the north pole, and has started from this port July 15. Preparations for the northern cruise will now be rushed.

Mr. Borden arrived several weeks ago with William Brown, superintendent of the Chicago Gun Club, who will make the whaling trip with him. Another member of the party will be Roy C. Andrews of the National Museum at Washington.

FROGS INVADE OHIO TOWN.

Driven by Heat From Marshes of Lake Erie.

PORT CLINTON, Ohio, July 20.—Thousands of frogs are migrating overland from the marshes of Lake Erie and the Portage River to Sandusky Bay. In the evenings when they lift up their voices their numbers seem to have been multiplied to millions. They fill the roads and streets and hundreds hop into homes.

Nervous women have become more afraid of the clumsy little frog than of the proverbial mice. Each night before retiring there is a thorough search under the beds and even between the covers for amphibian visitors. Doors are kept closed all the time. The species is a small type that is incapable of covering much territory in a day's hopping. The migration is expected to continue until cold weather.
